Festival of the Good Life

The natural desire for a good life has occupied people's minds since the dawn of civilization. Aristotle believed that it could not be achieved by individuals alone but needs the support of community and state.

Students of Rhine-Waal University would like to invite everyone who is interested in discussing this complex issue together with experts to an exciting day on the campus.

Come and join us for a lot of interesting presentations, workshops, competitions, exhibitions and a rich evening programme.

Prior to the festival, our "Symposium on Ethics and Finance" will take place to provide an academic insight into the topic.
